

WILL AID HEBREWS TO ESCAPE RUSSIA

Philadelphia Manufacturer to Bring Victims of Bolshevists to This Country

A crusader in the interest of humanity, Morris Rosenbaum, a manufacturer, whose home is at 3222 Fountain street, sailed from New York on the steamship France, bound for Russia, where he will arrange for transportation to America of hundreds of Russian Jews at present suffering from the oppression of the Bolshevists, unable to get out of the country.

Mr. Rosenbaum, answering what he declares is a call to service for his fellow men, has given up his business temporarily at 11 North Fourth street, for three months to make his trip abroad.

Although his principal mission is to bring home to the United States with him Jews who are having difficulty escaping the persecutions of the Bolshevists, Mr. Rosenbaum will make a survey of conditions in Russia while he is there and report his findings to the Jewish societies in this country on his return. The principal object of his mission is Kiev, where there have been continuous uprisings and where the suffering of the people is believed to be the most intense.

T-SQUARE CLUB MEETS

New York Architect Speaks on Capitol Park at Harrisburg

More than 200 members of the T-Square Club were present at the semi-monthly meeting last evening in their building 204 Quince street, at which Arnold Brunner, an architect of New York, delivered an address on the new Capitol Park at Harrisburg.

He told the assemblage of architects and artists, many of whom are Philadelphians, that the park, on which work has now been started, is a very large project involving not only landscape and park design, but also the scheme of surrounding buildings. An exhibition of rendered drawings by Brunner was on hand and every one showed great interest in them.

Nicola d'Assonzo, president of the club, and a well-known designer of stained glass, presided at the meeting.

To Entertain for Consul General Colonel John S. Muckle, of 2933 Walnut street, will give a reception this evening at his home to meet Gerald Campbell, the new British consul general for Pennsylvania, Ohio and Delaware.

MAN KILLED BY TROLLEY

Court Interpreter Struck at Fifteenth and Arch Streets

While crossing Fifteenth street at Arch yesterday afternoon, John H. Beniakoff, sixty-five years old, an interpreter in Court of Common Pleas No. 2, was struck and killed by a trolley car. He lived at 3906 Girard avenue.

Beniakoff had been connected with the court since 1901, when he was appointed by Judge Suitsberger. He was an interpreter in Russian, Yiddish and French languages. He was especially a student of French, and wrote a number of articles for foreign newspapers.

Just for Ink

The teacher's rule of "proceed from the known to the unknown" should be followed in advertising.

And yet, the temptation is often present to picture a factory output as reaching "end to end" from Boston to Buffalo and beyond, or perhaps three times from the Earth to the Moon.

For example, Butterick uses $196,000 worth of ink per year for printing.

Everybody uses ink and everybody knows that a few cents' worth will last a long time.

The temptation is to picture a young lake of ink or a stack of ink bottles alongside of Washington Monument or some similar device for stimulating the imagination.

How would you illustrate the use of an enormous amount of printing ink?

"SINCE we installed the 'Y and E' Direct Name Filing System, I haven't known what it is to wait for a piece of correspondence, nor has there been a single letter lost or misfiled."

This is the tribute paid by a big executive (name on request) to the "Y and E" Direct Name Filing System.

Actual time-tests recently made in a number of Philadelphia offices, equipped with this system, averaged exactly 8 1/2 seconds!

If your filing system is not up to this high standard, it is high time you investigated this simplest and swiftest of all filing systems.
